Shanghai Exchange for week ending Wednesday, April 26th, 1922.

By Maitland, Fearon and Brand

Exchange:—Fluctuations in the price of bar silver in London have this week been more marked than usual. The price on the 20th suddenly rose to 3/5¾d. per oz, an increase of 2¼d, but to-day it has receded to 3/4½d. and London reports the market quiet. Following the strength of silver our local rate for T/T on London advanced to 3/5d, but was subsequently dropped to 3/4½d. at which rate it remains at the close of the market to-day, with sellers at 3/4¾d.

In continuation of our remarks of last week the political situation is still having a very adverse effect upon business in general, and exchange transactions are being conducted upon a very limited scale

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:—

Sycee and Bar Silvea ..... Tls. 28,564,000 a decrease of Tls. 827,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars ..... $ 37.140,000 an increase of $ 570,000.

Estimated value Tls. 55,304,000 as against Tls. 66,214,000 held this time last year.

New Books and Publications

A New Edition With An Introductions

The Philippines Past and Present by Dean C. Worcester, Secretary of the Interior of the Philippine Islands 1901-13, Member of the Philippine Commission, 1900-1913. Two volumes in one. New York: The Macmi lan Company; 1921.

DEAN Worcester's book needs no words of introduction to most residents in the Far East and to most of the readers of the Review. In its two volume edition it has found a place on the shelves of most libraries of those who are interested in the Philippines for any reason. Mr. Worcester attacks a problem in the first chapters that has frequently been too lightly passed over, namely, the question as to whether or not independence was promised by the United States to the leaders of the Filipinos in their insurrection against the power of Spain. Mr. Worcester attempts to demonstrate that no charge of bad faith can be brought against the Americans and most fair minded judges will admit that he succeeds.

The new edition of the book contains an introduction in which Mr. Worcester tells, in the vigorous and downright manner that has cost him many friends in the course of his official career, just what he thinks of the Harrison regime. We deal with one of the most serious of his charges in the editorial columns of this issue.

Those who know Mr. Worcester's book will do well to borrow this new edition from a friend and read the introduction. Those who do not know the book ought to put it down as one of the works that must be read by every American who desires to know what his fellow countrymen have accomplished in the East and by what means they have done so.

Hangchow Itineraries

Hangchow Itineraries, by Robert F. Fitch. 1922 Kelly andWalsh, Ltd; Shanghai.

THE second edition of a guide book to Hangchow city proper, and the surrounding country which holds many famous places of interest, has been compiled and edited by Robert F. Fitch of Hangchow, and published by Kelly and Walsh, Ltd. As the author states, the book is issued purposely for those who may go to Hangchow, telling them how to spend their time most pleasantly, profitably and with the best economy of time. In travelling over many parts of China, there are few towns, with the exception of cities in North West Szechwan, so beautifully located as Hangchow. Also there are fewer cities with so many places of historic interest.

In this connection Mr. Fitch has carefully planned out to the advantage of the traveler an itenary for each day, with details on how to get to Hangchow and where to stay; itinerary for six days, a "one day" interary notes on the Hangchow Bore or Tidal Wave; and how to see the Gorges of Ch'ien and T'ang; and valuable information on monasteries. This second edition includes more material than the first, has more illustrations, and an alphabetical index. A very useful table on tariff for various hotels, boats, ponies, and modes of travel is included in the book.

Outline for the Study of Current History, Finance and Commerce of China

by

C. F. REMER, M. A.,

Professor of Economics, St. John's University and

DONALD ROBERTS, M. A.,

Professor of History, St. John's University

This outline, primarily for the use of middle schools and colleges, is based upon the Review for last week. It is not intended that the whole of the outline be used but that those topics be selected that are found be to adapted to the class.

1 International Affairs

1. A Foreign Policy for China

Read the review of Mr. Bau's recent book, on pp.285-287.

Questions. 1. What is said of the author of the book which is here discussed? 2. What is the difference in meaning between the terms "destructive criticism" and "constructive (or creative) criticism"? Which form is the more prevalent in China today? 3. Describe the subject matter of this book. 4. What does Mr. Bau think to be China's first need at the present time? Do you agree with his reasons? What are they? 5. What criticism does he make of the foreign loans that have been negotiated by China, and how does he wish to make the loans more profitable than they have been in the past? 6. State what he considers China's chief responsibilities in her foreign relations. 7. What does he think should be China's attitude in regard to Japan's encroachments in Manchuria and Mongolia? 8. What does he regard to be the right attitude in general towards Japan? 9. Does this book indicate an advance in Chinese thought in regard to matters of foreign policy? Explain.

2. Japan in Siberia.

Read the editorial on pp.282-283.

Questions. 1. What is the situation in Siberia at the present time? 2. What is said as to Japan's policy in Siberia? 3. Describe the position of the island of Saghalien. To whom does the island belong? Look up the facts in an encyclopedia or in the Statesman's Year Book. 4. What reason does Japan give for remaining in Siberia? 5. What reasons have you to believe the paragraph quoted in small type to be propaganda rather than news? 6. Is this situation one which concerns other nations closely? 7. Study the news items on p. 296 (bottom) and p. 298.

2. Domestic Affairs

1. Chihli-Fengtien Fight Imminent

Read the article on pp. 283-285.

Questions. 1. What causes can be given for General Chang's military movements? With whom is his quarrel—and over what? 2. What are Chang Tso-ling's plans if he is successful? 3. Is President Hsu taking a part in this contest? 4. What is believed to be the attitude of General Lu Yung-hsiang of Chekiang and of General Chi of Kiangsu? Will they take a part in the struggle? 5. In what way will it be possible for Sun Yat-sen's army to alter the situation? 6. What action has General Tsao Kun taken? 7. Where are Wu Pei-fu's troops now stationed? 8. What conditions exist in Tientsin as a result of these military movements? 9. Which side in this struggle in the stronger position? Why? 10. How can you account for the strange lack of interest that the people as a whole show in regard to this impending conflict? Is it right that this should be so? 11. Study the news items on pp. 292,294 and 296.

2. The Anti-Christian Movement.

Read the article on pp. 291-292, and the editorial on p. 281.

Questions. 1. What is the writer's opinion (p. 291) of the recent anti-Christian movement? What is his general reason for this opinion? 2. Is he justified in thinking that serious consequences may follow this agitation? Of what sort? 3. What does he say regarding religion and science? Have you sought, and are you seeking, to get a careful knowledge of this question and of the answers to it? 4. What is the fundamental purpose of a religion? What in your opinion is the purpose of the Christian religion? 5. Can you state any harm that the Christian religion has done in China? Has it made citizens less loyal? 6. Without Christianity is there any widespread constructive effect being made for China's good, which differs from the effort which Christians are making? 7. Do you know a higher kind of life than the Christian life?

3. Commerce and Finance

Topic 1. Economic and Financial Conditions During March 1922.

Read the article on this subject that begins on p. 287. The questions are arranged under headings that bring out the topics of chief interest.

Questions:

Trade:

1. We are told that the month of March usually brings brisk business, How do you explain this? 2. How do you explain the growth of the trade in egg products? 3. Has this trade had an effect upon the price of eggs in the district in which you live? 4. Why should a tariff which is about to be introduced produce a "feverish demand" for egg products on the part of the United States? 5. How does the report explain the fact that this year's business in silk was smaller than usual when the statistics given show that more silk was exported than last year? 6. What two line of imports are said to be prospering?

The Genoa Conference:

1. Where is the city of Genoa? 2. What have you read in the newspapers about the Genoa Conference? 3. What are to be the chief subjects discussed at the conference? 4. What is the chief fact in the economic relations of the United States with Europe? In the relations of Germany with the rest of Europe? In the relations of Russia with the rest of Europe? 5. Read the editorial on the same subject to be found in the second column on p. 282. What in the editor's opinion, are the matters of first importance in bringing about better economic conditions in Europe? 6 Explain how it is possible for a nation to spend more in a year than is received by the treasury. What do you think will be the final result of such a policy?

Silver and Exchange:

1. How much silver was sent to Shanghai during the first quarter of the year 1922? 2. How much silver was sent out of Shanghai during the first quarter of the year 1922? 3. To what places was it sent? 4. What effect do you think the present disturbed condition of North China will have upon the rate of exchange with foreign countries? Read the comment on this subject on p-319.

Flour Milling in China:

1. Show on an outline map of China the southern line of the flour milling industry? 2. Does this line mark the region where wheat is the chief food off from the region in which rice is the chief food? 3. Where is the line that separates those who eat wheat from those who eat rice in China? 4. How do you account for this difference? 4. It has been said that cotton milling is a more flourishing industry in China than flour milling because Chinese labor is cheap and a cotton mill uses more labor than a flour mill. What do you think of this reasoning?
